A PRESTIGIOUS and free training course is up for grabs for one Riverina resident looking to expand their skill base.

Launched by training organisation, Upskilled, the course is open to one person per region and will help people get out of a career rut or give an unemployed person the means to gain work. Interested people will have to lodge a 150-word submission on why they should be offered a spot on the exclusive course and send it to entries@upskilled.com.au.
